

The consultants offer several suggestions for improvement and strongly emphasize a recommendation that City Council first choose a level of service to target for.

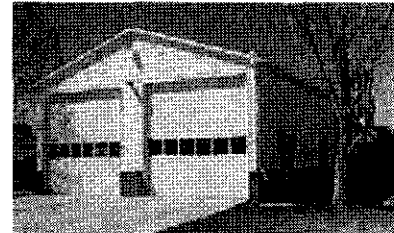

The option I will be recommending to council is based upon the criteria service level of the current master plan which is 7 minutes maximum total response time, anywhere in the city, arriving with sufficient equipment and personnel to address the problem encountered appropriately. Meeting the criteria 90 percent of the time.

The consultant has assessed this and other options and makes the recommendation that it will take a new station in West Laramie, moving Station two in East Laramie to the vicinity of 30th and Willet and increasing LFD staff by 15 new personnel. It is projected that taking these steps will meet the service delivery criteria 89 percent of the time out to twenty years. Taking no action will cause the delivery of services to deteriorate to an estimated 56 percent.

Welcome

The University of Wyoming is the only provider of baccalaureate and graduate education in a state of some one-half million people and 98,000 square miles.

Combining major-university benefits and small-school advantages, we offer our students a truly unique and quality educational experience. UW stands at the forefront in the exploration of emerging technologies and concepts, giving our students the types of hands-on involvement and one-on-one attention rarely found at other colleges and universities. And we also continue to be recognized nationally as one of the best values in higher education.

UW opened on September 6, 1887, with one building, five professors, two tutors, and 42 students, who studied philosophy, arts, literature, and sciences. Today, we provide our 13,000 students more than 180 programs of study at the undergraduate, graduate, and professional levels; an outstanding faculty; and world-class research facilities—all set against the idyllic backdrop of southeastern Wyoming's rugged mountains and high plains.

Our main campus is located in Laramie, approximately two hours north of Denver. The university also maintains the UW/Casper College Center, nine outreach education centers across Wyoming, and Cooperative Extension Service centers in each of the state's 23 counties and on the Wind River Indian Reservation.

About the Laramie Area Chamber of Commerce

Chamber Committees

- Leadership Laramie - Leadership Laramie is a program sponsored by the Laramie Area Chamber of Commerce, in which potential participants undergo an application and interview process. Participants dedicate one Saturday each month to the organization and as well as carry out a final project for the good of the community. Additionally, participants in Leadership Laramie develop their own leadership and professional skills while learning more about educational issues and literacy activities. Graduates of the program are armed with the essential knowledge and skills to become effective leaders in the community.
- West Laramie Business Association - The geography of Laramie (with the great Union Pacific Railroad Tracks, Interstate 80 and the Laramie River all bisecting the town) is such that there is East Laramie and West Laramie. West Laramie faces separate issues than the rest of town. Business owners and residents alike, have joined forces to make their voices heard. They raise funds, host events, are politically active and work tirelessly to improve the business climate and quality of life in West Laramie. The Laramie Area Chamber of Commerce supports this committee and the infrastructural development of West Laramie for the benefit of the entire community.
- Agri-business Committee - Agriculture is an essential and fundamental aspect of Laramie's economy. The Laramie Area Chamber of Commerce Agri-business Committee is an effective bridge between the business and agricultural communities. Among other activities, this committee hosts the hugely popular Agricultural Appreciation Banquet each October.
- Ambassadors - The Ambassadors Committee is the face of the Chamber. These Laramie professionals meet and welcome new businesses to the community and to the Chamber of Commerce. In addition to Ribbon Cuttings, the Ambassadors contact new members to remind them and invite them to attend Chamber functions and take advantage of membership.

To learn more, or to become involved with any of these committees, contact Peggy with the Laramie Area Chamber of Commerce.
